
Journal & Stata Funding

As of September 1, 2022

Journal Submission Reimbursement

Journal submission funding is provided to advance a graduate student's research through publication of one or more papers in advance of graduation. Some journals charge a submission fee for review of articles; this funding should offset those costs. Submission of an application does not guarantee funding. Payments may be subject to taxes.

The LIFETIME per student maximum on journal submission funding is $400

Applications must include a copy of receipt showing submission charge and name of journal

Stata Reimbursement

Stata is the Department's primary statistical software for integrating and parsing data. Funding to cover the purchase of Stata is available for students because it is so integral to many graduate projects and papers.

The LIFETIME per student maximum on journal submission funding is $1,000